

NZVEDAZ BIG FIVE

WHITE PAPER VERSION 1.0

INTRODUCTION

Nzvedaz Big Five (BFT) is unlocking the potential that cryptocurrency presents to Africa. With NFTs taking the crypto developments by storm, Nzvedaz BFT is the first African NFT marketplace that will enable the creation and trading of NFTs by African and international artists who might have faced bottlenecks in accessing already existing platforms. The marketplace is backed by the $BFT token, which will be the trading currency on the marketplace.

Being the first African NFT marketplace, the Nzvedaz BFT ecosystem presents an easy-to-use, efficient and fast-paced network to NFT creators, buyers, and collectors. This is Africa's first, and no doubt, it will claim its own space in the NFT and cryptocurrency world.

WHY SET UP AFRICA'S FIRST NFT MARKETPLACE AND TOKEN?

Africa contributed a sum of 13 billion U.S. dollars to the global art market in 2018 ("Global art market: revenue of Africa 2018-2023 | Statista", 2021). This figure is expected to rise to 15 billion U.S. dollars by the year 2023. However, current world salary statistics reveal that African artists are the least paid and most financially exploited. The African music market value was valued at 3.6 billion U.S. dollars in 2016 and is forecasted to reach 6.4 billion U.S. dollars in 2021 ("Music Industry Report", 2021). Whilst African musicians only receive a third of a cent. To put that in perspective, this equates to 786 streams to buy a cup of coffee, almost 300 000 streams a month to pay rent, and 650 000 streams to be full-time working musicians (Kolawole et al., 2021). The art global art market, which saw more than 50 billion U.S. dollars in 2020, remains largely unregulated. This lack of regulation is perpetuated by the art world's lack of transparency. Ultimately benefiting those with the most resources whilst harming those with the least. African art is the prime example ("Why I Believe NFTs Will Benefit Artists", 2021).

The Big Five NFT marketplace for African Art will be a first for Africa as a continent and the first aimed at monetizing African artists. In the history of cryptocurrency, there has never been a project that targets and benefits Africa. The only representation that Africa has had in this space is being the recipient of charity donations. For the first time, we have a project that has been built by Africans for Africa. The problem that we are aiming to solve is the under-representation of African Art in the global marketplace. The project also aims to mitigate the financial impact COVID-19 has had on the arts industry Africa-wide. With gatherings prohibited in most countries, artists that require a live audience have suffered a negative impact on their earnings. Tokenisation of their art also mitigates the loss of income as the platform allows them to digitize and sell their digital art to a wide audience. Copyright has been a problem for African artists, as ownership and copyright were not easily enforceable. Blockchain technology addresses the ownership challenge as its record is immutable ensuring artists can continue to benefit from their art in perpetuity.

NZVEDAZ BFT MARKETPLACE AND TOKEN USE CASES

NFTs by their nature present unique online transaction opportunities. It is therefore prudent that there is robust support for the NFT ecosystem. Nzvedaz BFT will enable every artwork to have a corresponding contract NFT, which would function as both its certificate of authenticity and certificate of ownership. This contract NFT would be attached to the artwork in the form of a linking serial number or QR code. Payment for the physical artwork would happen via this contract NFT. There will be unprecedented transparency in the African art market and ensuring artists are supported for their artwork.

Use-cases at a glance

- The token is $BFT which is the ticker.
- The BFT will be a native currency, used to pay marketplace fees for artists and purchase their art on the marketplace.
- Every transaction on the marketplace will incur fees, be it buying or selling.

- To incentivize holding once the marketplace is up an artist holding the BFT will receive a discount on Final Value Fees (FVF)
- BFT will also be used as the currency in the Nzvedaz Metaverse that we will develop to complement the marketplace, in the metaverse it will be used to purchase land, interact with other businesses on the metaverse, like constructing roads, constructing buildings buy tools, or any other mirrored assets on the metaverse
- BFT will also be used as the currency in the P2E games that we have penciled for developing
- BFT will be the reward token for staking, which will be implemented as soon as the main net of the NFT marketplace is up and running
